

Maine Center for Economic Policy

In This Issue

Facts & Figures

Shark Week 2016: Taking on Predatory Payday Lenders

Jack Weiss, MECEP's 2016 Bowdoin Fellow

In the News

From our Blog

Facts & Figures

Payday Lenders

20,000
number of payday lender stores nationwide in 2015 up from 2,000 in 1996

$46 billion
volume of payday lending industry by 2015

217%
interest rate on a typical payday loan in Maine

$11 billion
amount of wealth payday and car title lenders have stripped from Americans since March 2015

60%
percentage of payday loan customers who are women

25%
percentage of payday borrowers who are senior

MECEP Matters e-newsletter July 2016

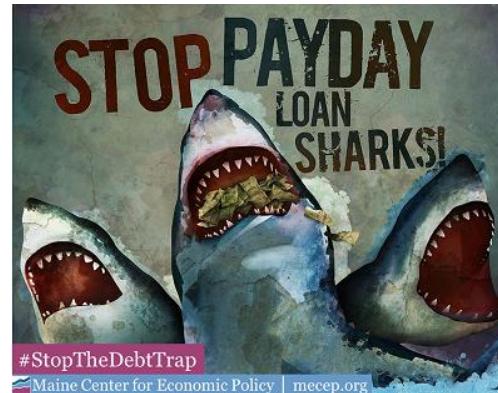

Dear MECEP Friend,

The mercury is rising, and MECEP is hot on the trail of payday lenders who prey especially on the most vulnerable in our community, low-income families, women, seniors, and others who struggle to make ends meet. A great Bowdoin Scholar has joined us for the summer. And as always, we continue to provide insight and expertise through both traditional and new media.

Sincerely,
Mark Sullivan
Communications Director

Shark Week 2016: Taking on Predatory Payday Lenders

MECEP recently joined with consumer advocates from Maine and across the nation to focus attention on the need for the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB) to adopt stronger regulations for payday and car title lenders. On June 2, CFPB unveiled its proposed rule, and MECEP issued a press release calling the draft "a good beginning" but noting "there is still much work to be done to ensure this rule truly protects consumers."

MECEP participated in Shark Week (June 26-July 1), a social media "storm" of Facebook and Twitter posts highlighting key data about the adverse impacts such lenders have on consumers and the economy. MECEP also examined the disproportionate impact they have on women in a June 29 blog post and warned against payday lenders who find ways to skirt the law in a July 20 blog post.

CFPB is accepting comments on its proposed rule until September 14. They need to hear from the public that we need strong rules to rein in abusive payday lending practices. You can submit comments directly to CFPB through a special MECEP web portal, click here.

Jack Weiss, MECEP's 2016 Bowdoin Fellow

Jack is a rising senior government and legal studies major and education studies minor at Bowdoin College. Before MECEP, Jack worked on several New Jersey legislative races canvassing and implementing a vote by mail campaign. Additionally, Jack has experience in legislative advocacy and research after working in 2015 for the New York Campaign for Achievement. This summer at MECEP he is assisting in our

Bowdoin Fellow Jack Weiss

citizens receiving Social Security

10 average number of loans payday consumers take out annually, borrowing one loan immediately after another

71% percentage of Americans who support additional government regulation of payday lenders

sources: click on each statistic for link

Quote

Women use payday loans ". . . to pay for food, gas, utilities, health insurance, childcare costs, and helping relatives; household expenses that are most likely paid by women. These are the same women whose discriminatory wages, earnings, and savings make them vulnerable to loan predators."

"Predatory lenders disproportionately target women, new study shows,"

MECEP blog post, June 29, 2016

Connect with us

Get eNews

Donate Now

research and analysis on the minimum wage and other pressing issues.

Click here to read Jack's recent blog post on Maine tax loopholes.

MECEP's Garrett Martin to Lead Coalition of MECEP Executive Director Garrett Martin (right) addressed attendees at the national State Priorities Partnership annual meeting held recently in Portland.

National Research and Policy Organizations

MECEP Executive Director Garrett Martin was elected chairman of the State Priorities Partnership's (SPP) directors steering committee at the national organization's annual meeting held July 18-21 in Portland. SPP is a network of over 40 independent, nonprofit research, and policy organizations around the country, coordinated by the Center on Budget and Policy Priorities. MECEP was a founding member of SPP launched over two decades ago with the mission of "reducing inequality and fighting poverty by making sure states have the resources they need through an accountable budget process."

In the News

Bangor Daily News/George Danby illustration

"Nationally and in Maine, we need a reinvigorated commitment to invest in public higher education, to provide a strong economy for all of us." Mark Sullivan in his June 28, 2016 Bangor Daily News op ed.

Maine Unemployment Rate Up in June

July 22, 2016 | Maine Public Broadcasting Network

Interview about the impact of Question 2, the Stand Up for Students initiative, on Maine small businesses

July 19, 2016 | WGNA-AM/FM

Interview about upcoming ballot initiatives

June 14, 2016 | WGNA-AM/FM

Encore boomers: the way Maine should be

June 14, 2016 | Bangor Daily News

Interview about the Stand Up for Students ballot initiative

May 24, 2016 | WGAN-AM/FM

The numbers behind the new April unemployment numbers

May 23, 2016 | Bangor Daily News

WZON interview about calculating Maine's unemployment rate

May 23, 2016 | WZON-AM

WZON Interview with new MECEP board member Ben Chin

May 20, 2016 | WZON-AM

From our Blog

Read some of MECEP's recent blog posts or click here to visit our blog.

Leaked memo confirms Governor's priorities remain the same- tax breaks for the wealthy, cuts in crucially important investments in our communities

July 28, 2016 by James Myall

How payday lenders skirt the law

July 20, 2016 by Jody Harris

Women have higher poverty rates in retirement than men

July 13, 2016 by Mark Sullivan

Closing the door on ineffective tax loopholes in Maine: Important challenges lay ahead

July 7, 2016 by Jack Weiss

Predatory lenders disproportionately target women, new study shows

June 29, 2016 by Jody Harris

BDN reports dire consequences for Maine children from LePage assault on TANF

June 23, 2016 by Mark Sullivan

New poll reveals overwhelming support for strict regulation of payday lenders

June 21, 2016 by Mark Sullivan

Maine May jobs numbers contain mixed news

June 17, 2016 by James Myall

CBPP: Ryan's "Vision for America" is less than 20/20 for Americans living in poverty

June 9, 2016 by Mark Sullivan

Report on "America's Shrinking Middle Class" offers some bright spots for Maine, Lewiston/Auburn

May 27, 2016 by James Myall

Contributions to the Maine Center for Economic Policy are deductible as charitable contributions for federal income tax purposes.

Maine Center for Economic Policy, PO Box 437, Augusta, ME 04332-0437